

The Daily Transcript

February 17, 2011

Construction under way at St. Elizabeth Seton Catholic Church

Steel framing is now under way and the topping slab has been poured for a new two-story parish center at St. Elizabeth Seton Catholic Church in Carlsbad. Designed by domusstudio architecture, the 18,443-square-foot building is expected to be completed in July.

Located on approximately five acres near Alga and El Fuerte in Carlsbad, the church's new $8 million parish center will double the amount of available space for events and religious education classes. Designed in a contemporary mission style to complement the sanctuary, the two-story parish center features similar window shapes and sizes, colonnades, roof design and trellis work.

The sanctuary was also designed by domusstudio architecture and earned three Orchids and the prestigious Grand Orchid award from the San Diego Architectural Foundation in 1997, as well as a citation from the San Diego chapter of the American Institute of Architects that same year.

Source Code: 20110217cri